Free Press Ottawa despatch of June 17: Mr. Foster has notified the Opposition privately that there will nothing further brought down this session for the ratification of parliament than what is now on the order paper. This means no remedial legislation, no Hudson Bay loan, or Quebec gerrymander, and nothing to keep parliament longer than the end of the first week in July. The announcement disposes of all these and other questions and indicates Mr. Foster's evident desire to get away from parliament before anything happens to further damage the government's reputation.

The text was the 10th and 11th verses of the 3rd chapter of Isaiah, "Say to the righteous that it shall be well with him; for they shall eat the fruit of their doings. Woe unto the wicked, it shall be ill with him for the reward of his hands shall be given him." EDMONTON BULLETIN, JUNE 24TH, 1895.

SETTLE THE COUNTRY.

The census of the Northwest recently taken, although encouraging as far as Northern Alberta is concerned, is somewhat disappointing as to the Territories as a whole and leads a number of eastern papers to comment on the necessity of a fuller and more rapid development of the Northwest in order that the desired development of the whole of Canada may be attained. It is a hopeful sign when leading eastern papers began to realize the close and important relation which the welfare of the Northwest bears to that of Eastern Canada, and it is not too much to say that had that relation been properly understood ten years ago as it is beginning to be understood to-day a great deal of the disappointment at the lack of progress made both in the west and in the east would not exist. Until now the east has looked upon the Northwest as a side issue, as something which it was entirely questionable whether its existence and development was and would be any benefit if indeed it would not be an injury, to the rest of the country. The Northwest was blamed for piling up the taxes, for pulling down the price of wheat and for reducing the price of land in the eastern provinces. No account was taken of the fact that the wealth and business and tax paying and debt bearing power of the nation were being increased by every additional furrow that was being turned in the Northwest, nor of the fact that it was the over production of the world at large that was pulling down the price of produce which again was what pulled down the price of land. It has been an article of faith with the papers and public men of Eastern Canada for years that a citizen of the east removing to the Northwest meant a loss of the amount of his wealth producing power to the country. Nothing could be further from the truth or from common sense. His removal meant an increase in his power to produce by reason of wider opportunities and therefore meant an increase in the actual wealth of the country by that amount. It is refreshing to see that the Montreal Star—in an article which appears in another column—has adopted and is advocating the idea that the colonization of the citizens of Eastern Canada in the Northwest would be a benefit both to the west and the east. As the Star is an exponent rather than a moulder of public opinion it is likely that this view is coming to be generally held, and that we may soon look for a change of view and of policy on the part of eastern people towards the Northwest. Instead of eastern men and money going to build up the United States while Europe is looked to to build up the Northwest, we will have Eastern Canadians turning their attention and energy and labor and capital to this more desirable field, whose advancement means the advancement of every part of Canada and every interest in Canada. In the past fifteen years ten times as much Canadian men and money has gone to build up Minnesota, the Dakotas, Montana, Washington, Oregon and California as has gone to help to build up the Northwest, while every year we have heard the changes rung on the vigorous immigration policy by which the Northwest was to be populated from Europe without depopulating Eastern Canada. As the Star remarks, that policy lacks the endorsement of success. It is high time it was changed for a policy whose first care would be to retain in the country its own inhabitants and use its and their contentment and prosperity as the lure by which to draw people from other lands. Canada's immigration policy has been the pouring water of into a seive Let this foolishness cease and let a bottom be put in the seive. That is to say, let the conditions surrounding settlement and residence in the Northwest be made as favorable as circumstance, will reasonably permit, let the inducements that are held out to people to come from Russia and the United States be held out to people to come from the eastern provinces to the Northwest, and there will still be as many people in the east and very many more in the west than at present. The loss will be to the United States, which has drained the life blood of Eastern Canada for the past fifteen years while our government and public men and private citizens blindly refused to see the evil or apply the remedy. While the government can do a great deal in this direction by its administration of affairs in the Northwest, a great deal can also be done by the press and leading citizens of the east. As long as they were antagonizing the Northwest—as they have done all along and in many cases are doing yet,—it could only be expected that their interference would have its effect. But if they can be made to see that the interest of the east demands the filling up of the Northwest, even with eastern men, and they preach that doctrine as energetically as they have the opposite one, that also will have its effect, and the result will be very greatly to the benfit of Canada both east and west. Patriotism is a sentiment, but it is not only a sentiment, it is busines as well, and in no case is business and patriotism more thoroughly combined than in this matter of the development of the Northwest.

MacLeod Gazette: It is believed to be definitely settled that another session of the Dominion parliament will be held before dissolution. The French members are said to have insisted on this, probably having before their eyes another sessional allowance, but it is not hard to believe that some of the English members were easily persuaded. Possibly also the cabinet itself is not unwilling to hang on to the loaves and fishes of office for a little longer.

Free Press on the debate in the Manitoba legislature on the reply to the remedial order: "In the speeches from the ministrial benches yesterday the point was insisted upon that the remedial order was a voluntary action on the part of the Ottawa government. The privy council decided that the separate schools representatives had a right to be heard by the governor-general-in-council and that a remedial order or legislation might or might not follow. The Ottawa government was in no wise compelled to issue the order except as they might feel themselves constrained by politcial exigencies. It was a matter for their own judgment. Under no circumstances was it requisite to order the restoration of the schools as they were prior to 1890. This much seems to be admitted by all disputants with the exception, perhaps, of Archbishop Langevin.

Athough no authoritative pronounciamento has been issued by Lord Salisbury or any of his immediate followers, it is an open secret that the traditional policy concerning Turkey will be departed from if the Conservatives obtain office. Lord Salisbury may have no cut and dried plan, but the Conservative organ which reflects the opinions prevailing in the Carlton club, is now advocating a re-construction of the Balkans governments by permitting Bulgaria to absorb Macedonia and even Constantinople, giving to Greece some extension of her frontiers, and confining Moslem domination to a portion of Asia Minor. This, of course means war, but war is in the air.

A new east tariff on hides, sheep pelts, tallow and grease has been issued dy the C. P. R. The local points of importance that are affected and the old and the new rates to Montreal per 100 pounds are as follows: Winnipeg—old, 82; new, 77. Brandon old, 97 new, 92; Regina—old, 114; new, 106. Calgary— old, 145: new, 120. The rate is also to C. P. R. and Ontario, south of and including Carleton Junction.

Calgary Tribune: Eleven car loads of young cattle, two and three year olds, arrived yesterday from Manitoba for Mr. H. Critchley, of Stapleton ranch. The cattle were purchased in the vicinity of Portage la Prairie and McGregor and are a fine looking outfit. After being fed for the season on the nutritious grasses of Alberta they will turn out prime beef. It is said there is a good margin of profit in this branch of ranching, even after paying freight both ways.

Montreal Star: It is doubtful if it ever before cost a government so much in hard cash to dodge an issue as the Federal Government has had to pay for that little Prohibition Commission it took refuge behind some years ago. Nothing under the sun was gained by it, but delay. The report is so cumbrous an affair that no elector, whose time is worth more than that of a setting hen, will read it. And if he should read it, he would find little save a mass of opinion. A plebiscite would have been immeasurably more valuable; but even it would be very far from settling the question. Prohibitionists and anti-Prohibitionists both understand that the only way to carry Prohibition is to elect a majority of Prohibitionists to Parliament; and until the people get ready to do that, our politicians should waste no more public money in playing with the question.

SPRUCE GROVE.

The warm and showery weather of the last few days has helped the late sown crops very much.

The breaking season is now fairly on, a large acreage of which is being done. The plowing match on Friday last was fairly well attended, no doubt the drizzling rain of the morning prevented quite a number from taking part therein. Very good plowing was done. Prizes were awarded to Geo. Hodel and D. Brox, first and second respectively. The judges were M. McCauley, R. Dinwoodie and G. Lacrete. The event was wound up with a dance at night in which a good number took part.

R. Dinwoodie, of South Edmonton, held a meeting here on Friday evening to discuss the creamery question. M. McCauley and others addressed the meeting on the subject. After which it was decided to hold a meeting at Stony Plain on the follow-Monday afternoon to solicit the co-operation of the farmers in that vicinity. The fact that the greater portion of the settlers owning the most cows are somewhat far apart, which tends to make the getting of the cream expensive, is the serious drawback. However it is hoped the scheme may succeed.

Mr. Gablehouse, of 12-53 in range 1, west of the 5th meridian, is about starting a new and much needed industry, that of tanning hides and skins, either for leather purposes or for robes. The industry will no doubt be well patronized.

June 20th, 1895.

NAMAO.

Mr. S. Samis, who came up from Nebraska last fall and after securing a homestead and buying a quarter section, went back for the winter, has returned to stay and this time he did not come alone, having persuaded a young lady to come back with him and be called Mrs. Samis.

A wedding took place at the residence of Mr. John Samis last Wednesday evening, 19th inst., when his son Fred and Miss Vanbuskirk were made man and wife. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. McDonald, of Edmonton. The happy couple proceeded to their own home the same night and being a popular young couple they were not forgotten by their numerous friends, quite a number of whom gathered together and proceeded to serenade them in good old fashioned style. Although their music was'nt sweet, it was "tremendous strong," but after they had been invited in and had partaken of the good things provided for them, they departed for their homes feeling contented and happy despite the rain which was then coming down in earnest. It is needless to say that Mr. and Samis have the good wishes of the entire neighborhood.

The election of officers by Sturgeon Council R. T. of T. took place at the first meeting in the present month and resulted as follows: Select councillor, W. Gibbard; past councillor, T. T. Brown; vice councillor, Miss Wilson; chaplain, J. M. Payzant; recording secretary, F. Beaver; financial secretary, W. Craig; treasurer, Miss Maggie Wilson; herald, Miss Samis; guard, J. Voss; sentinel, H. Trudgeon. The council intend holding an open meeting about the 27th inst., weather permitting.

HORSE HILLS.

Crops are looking good in this district at present. The recent rains and warm weather are improving things wonderfully.

Farmers are busy breaking.

There will be a basket pic-nic held in Mr. Clark's grove, about one mile north of the school house, on Friday, July 5th, under the auspices of the patrons of industry and the public school. All are welcome. Speeches, base ball, foot races and other amusements.

HOW TO PEOPLE THE TERRITORIES.

Montreal Star.

Ways and means of filling up the Northwest have come up temporarily for a good deal of discussion just now. The old plan suffers from lack of the endorsement of success; and many comments seem to indicate that our people are tired of paying immigrants to pass through Canada to the United States. On the other hand, the idea that a contented people in Canada is the best lure for immigration that we can procure is gaining ground. The Toronto Globe, for instance, contends that we should study to "take the weights off agriculture," holding that "when we have a population doing well on the land, the merchants of the towns and villages and their wholesale supply agents in the cities will not be doing ill, that the mechanics and industrial classes in the mills and factories will have plenty to do, and that the commercial machine generally will run smoothly along, and times of fatness come again." Applying this to the immigration question, it says:

"This must be the general basis of an effective immigration policy for the filling up of the fertile lands not only of the Northwest but of every other province that has unoccupied lands. Any other basis is like pouring water into a sieve. The settler who comes out and finds his expectations realized become a nucleus of colonization, whereas if he is wholly disappointed he is a blight to the country, and it were better if he had never been induced to set his foot in it."

The gospel of this is that the contented settler is the best immigration agent; and the application thereof is that we should labor to make the people we have contented rather than employ artificial means to bring in others to augment and advertise the discontent we already possess. This is precisely the result that a wise colonization plan would accomplish. Men would not be dumped down in the Northwest in ignorance of local conditions and possibly in debt for their equipment, unacclimated and unadvised. They would be Canadians who know the climate and something of the conditions of farming. They would be "assisted" from the outset; and ought to succeed if success is to be attained in that country. Moreover, their removal from the cities would make life easier for those left behind, and so would put them in a better position to buy the produce of the new farmers. It would augment the market where the city man sells his wares, and it would give a fillip to the market where the farmer sells his.

Black grasshoppers have appeared in large number at Taylor's falls, Minnesota.

GENERAL NEWS.

Victoria's assessment is $23,188,500.

The Battleford Herald reports a light frost there on June 7th.

A severe hail storm occurred at Langenburg, Assa., on June 16th.

Hendershott and Welter were hanged at St. Thomas, Ont., on Tuesday, June 18th, for the murder of W. H. Hendershott for $11,000 insurance money.

Fifty Canadian horses which were landed a few days ago in England were sold for an average price of 30 guineas ($157) each. They were much admired and found ready buyers.

The Winnipeg Tribune says that Minneapolis flour is being imported into Winnipeg and sold at less than Ogilvie charges. The Tribune figures Ogilvie's profit as against freight, duty and undercut in price on U. S. flour 65½ cents profit over that of the Minneapolis dealers.

The Moose Jaw Times points out that according to the calculations of the department of the interior, based on homestead entries, the population of the Territories increased 47,648 during the past three years, while the mounted police census makes the actual increase, including immigration and births, 21,276. There is a fearful discrepancy here. That vigorous immigration policy must have got lost down a crack.

Montreal Star: It is pre-eminently wise to give the west generous representation at Ottawa. We want to know, above most things, the needs of that country; and, having learned them, we want to do our best to meet them. To reach this result, it is, of course, necessary for the North West to send us representatives who will the truth and the whole truth about their constituents no matter how the telling of it may effect this or that party policy. If the men directly interested in the development of that country permit themselves to be fooled into voting for party when they ought to be voting for population, they will deserve the ills that will follow.

THE June number of The Canadian Magazine is remarkable for the interest and high literary quality of many of its articles, while the illustrations are quite equal to those of any previous issue. Capt. C. F. Winter, of Ottawa, discusses in his "Re-armament of the Militia," the relative merits of the Lee-Metford and Martini-Metford rifles. Amongst the illustrated articles are "Rome Revisited," beautifully illustrated by C. R. W. Biggar, Q. C., "Yuba Dam Trout," by A. M. R. Gordon, "Castle Frank, Toronto," by Rev. Henry Scadding, D. D., and "Portland, Maine, and its Environs," by Robert E. Noble. Mr. Stearns, "His Herbal," by Dr. Susanna P. Boyle, recalls the queer and curious ideas in medicine prevailing over a century ago. There are also several other articles and stories of considerable merit. The Canadian Magazine is published by the Ontario Publishing Co., Ltd., Toronto. Annual subscription $2.50. Single copies 25 cents.

Prince Albert Times: There is no doubt but that the District of Saskatchewan is placed at a great disadvantage with regard to the influx of immigrants to this place. C. P. R. having no lands to sell in this vicinity and other circumstances keep the general emigration agents from setting forth the advantages of this part of the country to the intending settler, and rather induces them to do their best to lead the unwary settlers away from this place. This perversness, we may call it of the emigration agents was fully examplified in the case of J. H. Lambert, Esq. and family who arrived here lately from England. This gentleman, knowing the advantages of this place purchased his tickets for himself and family for Prince Albert direct. No sooner was this fact known than the emigration agents used every means in their power to direct him from his purpose, going so far even as to offer him a free passage providing he would alter his determination and go to Edmonton District instead of Prince Albert, alleging that the climate and soil at Edmonton were far superior to the intended place of his destination. The persistent attempts of these agents caused Mr. Lambert to suspect that they had some ulterior end in view and therefore he wisely pursued the even tenor of his way.

FROM GREAT SLAVE RIVER.

Duncan McDonald snd Thos. Ker arrived from Great Slave river yesterday where they have been hunting and trapping for the last two years. They have done very well and bring out quite a valuable lot of furs. They started from their camp about 100 miles south of Fort Resolution on Great Slave lake, on May 20th. The past winter was mild and the spring early. The snow went off about April 10th, and the river broke about May 10th. The new Roman Catholic mission steamer, which was built last winter, was launched at Fort Smith when they passed there. They met Mr. Malterner at the same place bound for Peel river alone in a canoe. At Chipewyan potatoes were above ground when they passed. The steamer Graham had not been launched. Trade had been good at Chipewyan. Colin Fraser had made a good trade and expects to be in Edmonton about July. E. Nagle had reached Chipewyan with his outfit in good shape. Peter Luted and a number of Indians came up to the Landing from Chipewyan with McDonald & Ker. They bring furs for sale. The steamer Athabasca left the Landing for Little Slave river on the 20th. Fur was plentiful in the north last winter and rabbits and lynx were increasing in numbers, which indicates plenty of fur and good times for the Indians next winter. Deer were numerous last winter.
